

the Westchester WAG

September 2005

Fall Fashion

Classic Romantic Closet Additions

Philanthropic Lions

Meet Generosity's Finest

Nips & Tucks

*The Good, the Bad,
and the Cosmetically Improved*

Farmers' Market

*Harvest Bounty
in Your Neighborhood*

New Column!

Tips & Trends

Charitable Mustard, Warehouse Wonderland, and MORE!

The Westchester WAG

September 2005

*The Long and the Short of it--
HAIR EXTENSIONS*

“Even though hair extensions aren’t grown naturally, you must still take care of them. ‘Because shampooing, combing and brushing become more difficult, there is a tendency to tug and pull on the hair, which can lead to breakage and hair loss,’ says Donald Miriello, the owner of THE BEST LITTLE HAIR SALON IN RYE. Extensions don’t receive the natural oil that your hair does. Therefore, extensions must be washed every 2-3 days. Also, when washing the extensions, make sure the braids that the extensions stem from are washed and cleaned. Bacteria and dirt will collect between the hair if the braids are not properly taken care of.

Note: The Best Little Hair Salon in Rye does not offer hair extensions as a service, choosing instead to work with a woman’s natural hair. We commented on this article to increase knowledge and provide useful tips for those who do wish to use this service.